

BUSY WEEK IN COURT

Criminal Cases Disposed of in Short Order—Prisoners all Plead Guilty—Civil Cases Now On.

District court affairs have had the right of way in Flagstaff since Monday, when the regular September session opened with Judge Edward M. Doe on the bench. The criminal cases were disposed of quickly. Several indictments were returned by the grand jury, but every man plead guilty without a trial.

A trial jury was empanelled Wednesday morning, but was excused until Saturday, when some civil actions will be heard. It is expected the calendar will be entirely cleaned up by Tuesday or Wednesday, when court will adjourn.

GRAND JURORS.

Sarah S. King vs. Robert A. King; divorce. Judgment for plaintiff.

Walter W. Hubbell vs. Grace L. Hubbell; divorce. Judgment for plaintiff.

Elizabeth L. Dobson vs. Robert L. Dobson; divorce. Submitted to the court on depositions.

HAMILTON RELEASED.

Chas. Hamilton, charged with bigamy, was indicted by the grand jury, but was afterward set at liberty for the reason that this court has no jurisdiction in his case. It is a matter that comes under the jurisdiction of the federal court. Hamilton will go free unless re-arrested by the U. S. authorities.

FROM ABROAD.

The following legal lights from other localities graced the court room with their presence:

Henry F. Ashwurst, E. S. Clark, Paul Burks and Rees M. Ling, Prescott.
W. P. Gary, Winslow.
Geo. W. Glowner, Williams.

Episcopal Services.

Rev. Charles E. Farros, rector of St. Paul's church, Sacramento, Calif., will be in Flagstaff, Friday, September 30, to celebrate holy communion, at 10 a. m., and will preach at 9:45 in the evening, at the M. E. church.

Rev. Clyde P. Metcalf left on Tuesday evening for Pacific Grove, Calif., to attend a conference of M. E. ministers. He was accompanied by Miss Beth Crandell, niece of Mrs. Metcalf, whose home is in Los Angeles. Rev. Metcalf will be gone ten days or two weeks. Next Sunday evening his pulpit will be occupied by Dr. R. H. H. Blome, of the Arizona Normal. There will be no preaching service in the morning, but Sunday School and other services will be held as usual.

George Rickel and Miss Marjorie Pooler were married at 6 o'clock last night, by Rev. Howard Clark, at the home of the bride's mother. About 40 guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Rickel left on No. 1 for Grand Canyon to spend their honeymoon.

Miss Jessie L. Norman returned to her home in Knoxville, Tenn., yesterday, after a short visit with her cousin, J. V. Donmyer. Mr. Donmyer has recently been transferred to this place to take the position of freight and revising clerk for the Santa Fe.

CARNIVAL IN FULL SWING

Hair-Raising Features Galore—Hippodrome, Ferris Wheel Great Snakes and—Mamie.

She's all right, is Mamie. Anyhow, the way she executes that butterfly, bat—or whatever you call it—dance is wonderful to behold. Enough yards of silk are tangled up in that stunt to supply all the girls in town with a new dress—and then some. But Mamie never gets tangled. She's a star of the first magnitude, and skirt juggling with a few miles of surplus cloth to kick about is mere play when Mamie is on the boards. She's the carnival queen.

And those snakes! Gee! One of them would make an ordinary drinking man think he had never in his life seen anything bigger than an angle worm. They are huge monsters—too all-fired big to be funny, except when you are a block or two away. The only reason they haven't killed somebody is because they have been kept caged and guarded.

Then, there's the Ferris wheel—the biggest in Coconino county and the busiest. When you get on the top side you have gotten—well, as high as you will ever get unless you keep away from street car.

That isn't all by half, but it will give you some idea of the magnitude of the show. Of course, there are a dozen and one little side issues that keep a fellow dodging until his money runs out—but they are all on the square, clean and unobjectionable to even the most fastidious.

Why, of course!

It's a street carnival, sure—a real live collection of all the wonders that can be dug up to gratify the curiosity and daring of the thrill loving public. From the opening night, last Tuesday, the grounds, across the track from the Santa Fe depot, have been thronged and the show people have been crowded to keep things moving fast enough.

The outfit is known as the Rocky Mountain Amusement Co. They will leave here Sunday night and go to Williams, where they are billed for next week.

Phoenix Elk Honored.

Paul Renau Ingles, prominent in Elksdom, has been signally honored by Grand Exalted Ruler Herrmann, who has appointed the Phoenix man district deputy grand exalted ruler for Arizona. Ingles is in receipt of his appointment and will at once assume the duties and honorarium emoluments of the exalted office.—Republican.

WILL MAKE BUILDING BLOCKS IN FLAGSTAFF

E. B. Raudebaugh Has Ordered Machinery For Making Cement Blocks of Every Description.

A plant for the making of cement building blocks will be established in Flagstaff as soon as the machinery arrives, which has been ordered by E. B. Raudebaugh, and should be put in active operation in the course of a few weeks. George Black, Jr., has already contracted for material for the building of a cement house, which will be the first of the kind in Flagstaff.

Mr. Raudebaugh says the new outfit he has ordered will consist of 10 machines for making blocks in any size from an ordinary brick to strips 14 inches wide and five feet long. Anything and everything required in a building from the foundation up will be turned out by the plant.

Mr. Raudebaugh figures there will be an era of cement building as soon as its advantages are appreciated. It costs but little more than lumber and makes a vastly more durable and comfortable home.

In the meantime, Mr. Raudebaugh will continue to construct cement walks in Flagstaff, the demand for which is growing since he started the work, and it is hoped it will continue to grow until good walks are everywhere in evidence throughout the city.

Called Home.

Mrs. Jennie Allen died at her home in this city, Saturday afternoon, September 17, of tuberculosis. Mrs. Allen came here with her husband and little son from Chicago about a year ago, in hope of recovering her health. For a time she seemingly improved, but the dread disease had gained too strong a hold to be more than temporarily checked. She lingered along in a very feeble condition for several days and her death had been momentarily expected for a week.

Funeral services were held at the M. E. church Monday, at 3 p. m., by Rev. C. P. Metcalf. Interment was made in the cemetery of the Knights of Pythias, of which order the husband is a member.

Mrs. Allen's maiden name was Jennie Birdie McLean. She was born in Scotland on September 11, 1863, and came to America with her parents when only two years old. In 1882 she became the wife of Mr. John Allen, who, with their little son, survives her. During their residence here Mr. Allen has been employed by the A. L. & T. company. In Chicago she gave much time to charity work, being a co-laborer with Miss Jane Addams, of Hull House. She was a consistent Christian and her faith in Christ made the waiting days rich in blessing.

Double Track Needed.

It is said the Flagstaff Lumber Manufacturing company will probably be compelled to have some double tracking done in the vicinity of their mill, this being regarded as necessary for the convenience of Mr. Jesse Boyce. The other day when he went out to check up the workmen, he was obliged to pass an engine and several cars that had pulled into the cut and stopped. An embankment projected out so closely on one side that only an ordinary man could squeeze through. Not being of that calibre, Mr. Boyce had to make a toilsome circuitous route up over the hill in order to get by. The "little" fellows who watched the maneuver were greatly elated—but they did most of their laughing when Mr. Boyce was not looking. There is some advantage in being a big man after all.

Charley Foo Comes to Grief

Charley Foo, the famed Lily Brand caterer and Home Bakery promoter, while attempting to fasten a hook high up on the wall, last Monday, fell backward from a step-ladder into an expensive glass show case, smashing it into fragments, and lacerating his left hand and the left side of his face quite seriously. It required several stitches to close up the wounds.

Arizona Wool Growers Meet.

There was a good attendance at the Wool Growers' meeting here, Tuesday. Forest Supervisor Hinderer and Joe Campbell, of Prescott, were present, and allotments were assigned on the Verde division of the Prescott forest. Other matters were talked over and adjusted as nearly satisfactory as possible. Several sheepmen were present from a distance.

Al Beasley tendered a surprise banquet to his brother Odd Fellows, at their meeting Monday night. It was a bunch of Al's prime spring chickens that figured for the feast, and the boys enjoyed the spread very much.

MURDERED FOR HIS MONEY

Ghostly Crime Committed Near Bellemont—Men Thought to be Guilty of Deed are Caught.

Slashed and cut about the face, neck and breast in the most shocking manner conceivable, Gregoria Conejo, a Mexican about 60 years old, was found dead by his sons near the cinder pit, where they had all been working, just west of Bellemont, early on Wednesday morning. Officers in Flagstaff were notified and went out at once. Coroner Harrington and Deputy Sheriff Pulliam summoned a jury and held an inquest, after which the body was disposed of under direction of Judge Harrington.

The murdered man had in his pocket $250 in gold when he left the camp to get a bucket of water. His long stay determined the foreman to send his sons to look for him and they found him about half way between the cinder pit and spring in the condition above described. His money was gone, all he and his sons had in the world.

Cesario Sanchez and Rafael Parela had been working at the camp and knew of the old man's money. Saturday night they were discharged and went to Williams, but returned to Bellemont Wednesday morning, and some time after the crime was committed bought tickets and boarded a train for Isleta, N. M. The sheriff immediately telegraphed to have them apprehended, and word was received yesterday that they were in custody at Albuquerque. Deputy Sheriff Pulliam went after them and will bring them in this morning. There is strong evidence of their guilt.

The court has ordered a special venire of the grand jury and the men will be tried immediately.

Accidental Shooting at Angell.

Mrs. Jack Fairfax, who is visiting the Kelley family, at Angell, was accidentally shot in the left foot with a 22 automatic rifle, Wednesday evening. A boy had gone hunting with Mr. Kelley's rifle and upon his return, left it standing in the depot. Mr. Kelley is the depot agent. His wife and Mrs. Fairfax, noticing the gun, expressed the fear that it might be loaded and asked him to examine it. As the ladies surmised, it contained several shells, which Mr. Kelley threw out, or supposed he did, but one must have stuck. Anyhow, he snapped the gun; the same instant a cry of pain escaped Mrs. Fairfax, who was standing in the doorway, across the room. Dr. Sult, who was called to attend Mrs. Fairfax, says the wound is quite serious, the bullet having imbedded itself in the bone and caused a bad fracture.

Mrs. Fairfax's many friends will learn with sincere sorrow of her misfortune.

Visitors From Panama.

Norment W. Winds, of Panama, who has charge of the expense account for the construction work on the Gatun dam and locks, arrived here last week with his wife and child for a visit of two weeks or longer. Mrs. Winds is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. H. H. Blome. Mr. Winds is employed on the Atlantic division of the work and is thoroughly conversant with affairs relative to the progress of the great enterprise. He has been on the work since the spring of 1906, and believes the opening of the great canal will be accomplished by January 1, 1915. It took Mr. Winds and family eight days to make the trip to Arizona.
